

Colonial Voluntary Benefits
The benefits of good hard work.

Create better connections

Gain new insights and perspectives through our long-standing relationships with these organizations.

- National League of Cities (NLC)
  The NLC's 49 state municipal leagues help the leaders of more than 19,000 cities, villages and towns build stronger communities. We were invited by NLC leadership to be a corporate partner and share ideas that can help strengthen local government and encourage economic competitiveness.

- International Public Management Association for Human Resources (IPMA-HR)
  The IPMA-HR represents the interests of more than 5,000 human resource professionals at the federal, state and local levels. We received their preferred provider designation for voluntary benefit solutions.

- National Institute of Governmental Purchasing (NIGP)
  The NIGP offers a library of thousands of bid-related documents, training programs and seminars to help better manage the procurement process. We enhanced their resource collection with a sample RFP and questionnaire members can use when qualifying a voluntary benefits provider.

- Sourcewell (formerly NJPA)
  Sourcewell facilitates the competitive bidding process on behalf of its 50,000 member organizations. We earned a contract for voluntary benefits that Sourcewell members can leverage to fulfill their bidding requirements, provided all statutory requirements and obligations are satisfied.

- Government Finance Officers Association (GFOA)
  The GFOA is a leading source of public financial management expertise, highly regarded for its research and reporting on the latest trends, methodologies and solutions in government management. We work with GFOA to research innovative and effective strategies local governments can use to contain costs while managing the quality of employee benefits.

- Association of School Business Officials International (ASBO)
  The ASBO equips members with tools, resources and services that define best practices in school business management. We partner with them on events that promote the highest standards of school business management, professional growth and the effective use of educational resources.

- National Forum for Black Public Administrators (NFBPA)
  The NFBPA unites public, private and academic institutions in preparing young aspiring administrators for senior posts in local and state government. We help them tap into research and other resources to better understand and manage the complex field of employee benefits.

- International City/County Management Association (ICMA)
  The ICMA fosters professional management in local governments by providing services, research and training to city, town and county leaders worldwide. We support their mission with strategies and resources members can use to develop more cost-effective and sustainable benefits programs for their employees.
